The year of your graduation from Cooper Union, 1983, is also the year of our commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Peter Cooper in April 1883.

Anniversaries appear to have been created by us as a kind of alarm clock to awaken us periodically from the hectic pursuit of our immediate goals, and to compel us to reflect thoughtfully on the deeper meaning of our activities and our purposes. The occasion of your completion of your studies at Cooper turns out to be a good time for us to ponder the degree to which we are living up to the grand ideals that Peter Cooper envisioned for the students of the school he founded.

As an educational institution in the narrow sense of the term, whose object is to transmit contemporary knowledge, abilities, and understanding in the professions of architecture, art,engineering, and in the humanities. I think we would all agree that a good job has been done. The instruction you received from the faculty, and the courses offered, have been good, oftentimes excellent, as have the facilities you used. And this — together with your own exceptional talent and qualifications — certainly bode well for your success in your chosen fields. In this respect Peter Cooper would have been proud of you and of the school today.

But he wanted more than that from Cooper Union. In his personal letter to the first trustees of the school he wrote:

> "I trust that the students of this institution will do something to bear back the mighty torrent of evils now pressing on the world. I trust that here they will learn to overcome the evils of life with kindness and affection. I trust that here they will find that all true greatness consists in using all the powers they possess to do unto others as they would have that others should do unto them; and in this way become really great by becoming the servant of all."

The world you are entering certainly needs that kind of greatness today, just as much as it did when Peter Cooper wrote those words in 1859. My hope is that the education you received in the years you spent as students here in some way also "taught" this — for that would be the true test of our fulfillment of Peter Cooper's trust. Indeed the achievement of that kind of greatness is my fervent hope for each of you, as I wish you success in your careers on behalf of all of us who remain behind to carry on the good cause bequeathed to us. I am confident that we shall have reason to be proud.

I am convinced that when a true American System of Finance is adopted which shall put all that circulates as Money entirely and exclusively under the Control of the Government, MAKING IT RECEIVABLE FOR ALL DUTIES AND DEBTS, Employment for all the Working Classes, and Prosperity for the whole Country will be the natural and permanent result. —PETER COOPER.
